

Learn & Play Day

November 5, 2019

School's out! DPSCD students can receive free admission and participate in special activities at engaging city locations.

Belle Isle Aquarium and Anna Scripps Whitcome Conservatory

Spend the day exploring the Belle Isle Aquarium, which is the oldest public aquarium in the continental United States. Also, discover the beauty of Anna Scripps Whitcome Conservatory, which is home to a large collection of exotic and rare plants from around the world.

Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History 315 E Warren, Detroit 48201

Free activities from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Enjoy a movie viewing in the Orientation Theater, make and take activities in the Latimer Cafe, learn about African-American scientists and inventors in the Inspiring Minds Gallery. Refreshments available.

Detroit Historical Museum 5401 Woodward Ave., Detroit 48202

Free admission for all students, families and educators of DPSCD. Join us for artifact exploration workshops and drop-in tours from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Free memberships will be given to DPSCD students and teachers!*

*Parents/guardian must be present to register for free membership.

Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA)

Visit the DIA and experience beautiful collections of art and activities. The DIA offers free general admission for all Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County residents with ID. All general admission activities are free.

Detroit Public Library

Your local Detroit Public Library branch is a great place to hang out while school is closed. Several branches will have special activities for students on November 5. At the library you can check out books and DVDs; use a computer or free WiFi; or drop in on fun programs. See back for details.

Michigan Science Center 5020 John R, Detroit 48202

Free general admission when DPSCD students show their "Every School Day Counts" wristbands. Families can experience and be inspired by MiSci's exhibits, live stage shows and hands-on activities.
