Hispanic Heritage Month

Hispanic Heritage Month

A time of remembrance and a time of celebration

Remembering Hispanic Heritage Week

Remembering August 17, 1988 when President Ronald Reagan made Hispanic Heritage a month of celebration

Remembering how Hispanics came to the country before it became the United States

Remembering the struggle and challenges your ancestors endured to create a better future

Remembering the wars fought to win independence for Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico, Honduras, Nicaragua, and Chile

Remembering when Hispanics came to the United States in search of work, freedom, and opportunity

Estar orgulloso de su pasado, abrazar el futuro

Embrace your culture

Embrace your power

Embrace your heritage

Embrace your identify

Embrace the influence of Hispanic culture

Estar orgulloso de su pasado, abrazar el futuro

Hispanics are one of the largest and fastest growing youth population in the United States

More than $\frac{3}{4}$ of young Hispanics hold optimistic views about the future

Hispanic Heritage Month is a time for embracing Hispanics, their accomplishments, enrichments, and making the world a better place

A time to reflect on what they have contributed to society

September 15th through October 15th is a time where Hispanics celebrate who they are, where they come from, family stories, and traditions

Estar orgulloso de su pasado, abrazar el futuro

As a teenager from Michigan, Hispanics are widely celebrated

Southwest Detroit is a place to honor Hispanics

From their history, to the food they make and the art they create, Hispanics are greatly appreciated

Mexican Town in Detroit, Michigan is filled with Hispanics spreading their culture and skills to others

Their thriving communities have made a great impact on other communities

Estar orgulloso de su pasado, abrazar el futuro
