

Master Principal Pipeline: A Leadership Talent Development Project for the Detroit Public Schools Community District

Overview

This Partnership between Eastern Michigan University and the Detroit Public Schools Community District (DPSCD) primes a pipeline of transformative leaders for the city of Detroit. With a focus on facilitated coaching and transformative leadership praxis, principals and aspiring leaders receive intensive professional development from EMU professors and some of the DPSCD Master Principals. Coaching is directly aligned with DPSCD's Core Values of Excellence, Equity, and Service. EMU faculty and some DPSCD Master Principals will provide one-on-one direct facilitative coaching to the 6 Master Leaders chosen to participate in this Partnership.

Programmatic Components

- Complete Transformative Leadership Microcredential and earn a Leading for Equity certificate from EMU
- Receive coaching in transformative leadership practices from EMU faculty and DPSCD Master Principals in whole and small group settings, and individually.
- Monthly whole-group meetings to learn transformative leadership praxis
- Coaching aspiring leaders and peer leaders during the 2020—21 school year, if selected
- Continued development and professional coaching for you through 2021.

All DPSCD participants will receive 28 MDE-approved State Continuing Education Clock Hours (SCECHs) and a stipend of $1500 for their participation.
